Redcliff All Stars Lose At Drumheller

Game Ended With The Score
Two To One

Redcliff All Star football team which journeyed to Drumheller for a game last Sunday, lost out by 2 goals to 1 against the touring minors.

Fans who accompanied the players are unanimous in the opinion that our boys put up an excellent game and that it was a case of the best team lost out through errors in judgment and a few cases of bad luck. They also state that every player on the line up was right on his metal throughout the game.

In all eight cars accompanied the players and all got through without mishap.

After the game the visitors were entertained to a banquet by the home team.

All report a pleasant outing.

Much of the success of the trip is due to the untiring efforts of Bill Evans who arranged for the transportation and saw that the minutest details going and coming and coming were successfully carried out. The players and executive also greatly appreciate the service rendered by those who supplied cars for the occasion.

In its report of the game the Calgary Herald says: "It was a hard game for Redcliff to lose but equally hard for the locals to win. All players turned in a fine game on both sides."

The team lined up as follows: Drumheller—Edworthy, Watson, Barrie, G. Boyd, Proudfoot, Forrest, Dingman, Forrester, Quant, J. Boyd, McMillan.

Redcliff—Hoye, G. Davies, T. Davies, Turner, Lawson, T. Davies, Patterson, Kilner, Podesta, Houstach, Klemm.

Wheat Crop This Year 467 Million Bushels

Alberta Has the Largest Crop
On Record

This year's wheat harvest of 467 million bushels is the fourth largest in the history of Canada. In spite of larger crops from smaller acreages in the years of previous bumper crops (1923, 1927 and 1928) it is the increase in yield per acre which constitutes the contrast between the harvest of 1932 and that of 1931.

In Manitoba, the average yield of wheat was 17.7 bushels per acre, compared with 10.5 bushels last year, and in Alberta it was 21 compared with 17. High yields together with increased acreage brought Alberta to the largest crop on record. Drouth in southern Saskatchewan seriously reduced the total size of the crop, but for the province as a whole the yield per acre is much better than that of last year. The average yield throughout the prairie provinces amounted to about seventeen bushels per acre, slightly more than the long-term average. Results on the whole correlated closely with precipitation during the growing season; this was slightly above normal in each of the prairie provinces.

Citizens Form A Ratepayers Association

At Meeting Of Ratepayers
Held Last Friday

At a fairly representative meeting of ratepayers held in the armory last Friday evening it was decided to form a Ratepayers' Association and the following officers were elected:

President — A. N. Collard.
Vice President — C. T. Hall.
Sec. Treas. — J. R. Cann.
Ex. Com. — Messrs W. Campeau, M. Rindahl, R. S. Hodge and A. R. Ballantyne.

The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and after they were adopted Mr. Hall addressed the meeting.

Speaker thought steps should be taken to see if some arrangements could be made with the bond holders to have a recess for three or five years in paying principal and interest on debentures, in order that taxpayers would not lose their homes during the present depression.

Mr. Collard was of the opinion that the taxes question was now becoming a burden which was too much for the average working man to bear and the thought of the Utilities Commission should be asked to take the matter up with the bond holders. When the rebonding scheme was consummated a few years ago it looked like a good thing, he said, but since then conditions had changed considerably and it now looked as though some new arrangement would have to be made. The speaker asked that if any ratepayer had any suggestions to make that he go to the ratepayers' meeting prepared to bring them before the meeting for discussion.

Mr. officers and committee met after the general meeting for the purpose of preparing a program to submit to the ratepayers' meeting the following Wednesday.

Ratepayers' Asso. Asks Relief From Debenture Interest For Present

Resolution Passed at the Ratepayers' Meeting Last Evening, Called to Discuss Town's Financial Affairs—Outline Reasons for Asking That Interest be Deferred.

As a result of the ratepayers' meeting held here last evening a resolution was passed asking the town council to request the Utilities Commission to interview the town bond holders with a view of having the payment of debenture interest deferred for the next three years. It was pointed out in the resolution that the reason for making this request was because of the present depression and unemployment situation which might mean that unemployed taxpayers would lose their property through the enforcement of the Tax Recovery Act, as they would not be able to pay the increased taxes brought about by the adding of five mills to the tax rate this year.

Mayor Worts opened the meeting by explaining the reasons for which it was called and then asked the gathering to elect a chairman. His worthy said he thought the calling of the meeting was unnecessary as the financial situation of this town was thoroughly gone into at the annual ratepayers' meeting. He thought if the Ratepayers' Association had any matters to bring before the town council they should be done by a committee which could meet the council at its regular meeting.

Mr. R. S. Hodge was chosen as chairman. After outlining preliminaries leading up to the calling of the meeting, he called on Mr. A. N. Collard, president of the Taxpayers' Association. Mr. Collard said the Association did not wish to place any blame on the council for present conditions. He thought the council was attending to town affairs as economically and satisfactorily as possible under the circumstances.

Mr. Collard and Mr. C. T. Hall spoke among the same lines as they did at the Taxpayers' organization meeting, a report of which may be seen in another column of this issue. When they had finished the chairman suggested that the meeting select a committee to draft resolutions for presentation to the council. Messrs. R. Cann, Collard, Campeau and Hall were selected and after a few minutes deliberation submitted a resolution along the lines referred to above.

H. Sheehy suggested the reference be made in the resolution to the fact that the industries had not been working steadily for the past two years. This was agreed to.

Mr. Rindahl expressed the opinion that under the present conditions the Commissioners would not consider the matter at all. He thought the first question the Commission would be asked was: "What is the town doing to help itself?" If the commissioners came here to investigate the situation he thought they would want to know why our industries gave employment to single foreigners while married taxpayers were walking the streets.

W. Campeau said he thought that if all work available in town were distributed among taxpayers the matter would be solved.

The resolution as presented to the committee, was unanimously adopted.

A motion was passed thanking the Mayor and council for the friendly manner in which the new association was received and the information given by town officials.

On behalf of the council the Mayor expressed the hope that the newly formed Taxpayers' Association would keep up their interest in town affairs and he assured them that council would always welcome any suggestion they might have to make or any criticism they might have to offer.

Outstanding Value—Always

Taxes—Who Is Responsible For Them?

It is an old saying, and true, that there are at least two things which no person in the world can escape—death and taxes. So far as the former is concerned, it is inevitable; it may be postponed by rational living, by observance of the laws of nature and hygiene, by the exercise of "safety first" principles, but, in the end, it cannot be avoided.

Taxes, too, are inevitable if orderly government, properly organized community life, and essential public services are to be maintained, but, and this is the important thing, the taxpayers have it within their own power to determine the size and extent of the tax burden they shall carry.

Begin a discussion of the subject of taxation and you will find that there are nine out of every ten persons, yes, ninety-nine out of every one hundred, will at once lay the blame for their unduly heavy burden upon Governments, either Federal, Provincial, Municipal, or of the various national bodies. The cause, are partly responsible, but the taxpayers themselves are even more responsible, and it is high time Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer realized this fact of their responsibility.

In the first place, the taxpayers are responsible for creating the Governments. It was their votes which placed the Governments in power. It is by virtue of the votes of the taxpayers that Governments continue in office to apply their policies, impose taxes, and spend the proceeds of those taxes, or, contra, are elected from office. The taxpayers cannot escape this responsibility.

Secondly, Governments are constituted of groups of human beings, with all the failings of human beings. Placed in office they naturally desire to stay there, while opposing groups out of office just as naturally desire to get in. All these groups, therefore, angle for the support of a majority of the taxpayers, who are the final arbiters. If one group presents an attractive programme of public works, social expenditure, much employment, and consequent free spending of public moneys, contrasted with a more conservative and economical programme advocated by an opposing group, and the people endorse the former and reject the latter, then again the taxpayers are responsible for the ensuing large borrowings on the public credit, the creation of a large public debt, and the resultant heavy taxes to pay the charges on that public debt. The group in office may be responsible for proposing an unwise policy, but the taxpayers themselves are the ones of their approval to that policy and issued instructions that effect be given to it.

In the third place, there has never been a government entrusted with the duties of administering the business of all the people which has not been confronted with demands from the people that it do this or that, provide this service or construct that public work, extend financial support to this organization or that project. The cabinet of ministers, or municipal council as the case may be, may feel that the action urged upon them is unwise, but if the clamor is loud enough, and the demand of the taxpayers themselves urgent enough, they will, as representatives of the taxpayers and depending upon their support, yield to such demands. The result is more and heavier taxes. Governments must accept some responsibility for yielding to such demands when their judgment ordered otherwise—there are times when it is the duty of Government to reluctantly resist public clamor and refuse their demands, even when it means the defeat of the Government and the placing in office of another group which will carry out those demands—but the major responsibility rests upon the taxpayers, the voters.

Then these self-same taxpayers make bitter complaint because their taxes are heavy. They discover they cannot pay the taxes imposed upon them by reason of the very expenditures and borrowings they themselves insisted their Governments should make. When it is too late, because the obligations have been incurred and must, they demand that their taxes be reduced, or wiped out altogether. And when a responsible Government, entrusted with the preservation of the credit of the Dominion, a Province or a Municipality, declines to do this, because it cannot be done honestly, and if done dishonestly would result in the further disadvantage of the taxpayers, then many of the taxpayers make the further mistake of listening to, and being guided by, other groups which promise to do what is being demanded. In this difficulty Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer is willing to jump out of the frying pan into the fire.

When the taxpayers make a mistake, either as individuals or collectively as a community, they must pay the penalty. If a child puts its hand in the fire it will suffer pain. There is no escape. It cannot be the rub action. So, too, the taxpayers cannot tear up and repudiate what they have done, their Governments, acting for them and all too frequently upon their own urgings, and with the approval of the majority, have done for them. They must abide by the consequences.

What they can do, and should do, is to set to work to remedy the mistakes made in the best way they can, and sternly resolve not to commit the same mistake again. A little more thought and judgment before plunging into expenditures and debt is the surest method to reduce taxes and keep them down.

Sleep Seizes To Be Controlled By Amount Of Iodine In The Blood

A new idea of what sleep really is, a discovery that it seems to be controlled by the amount of iodine in the blood—was reported to the annual meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Science.

Thyroxin, the iodine-containing secretion of the thyroid gland, apparently is the sleep-controlling substance, said Dr. G. S. Carter. It does the work in the blood stream of actual sleep-producing drugs, however, Sleep seems to come when the supply of thyroxin in the blood is decreased, not increased.

The winter-long "sleep" or hibernation that is habitual for many animals also seems to be controlled by thyroxin, Dr. Carter said, his experiments showed.

He tried thyroxin on frogs, which have a different temperature and pulse rate in winter while hibernating than in summer when they are active. When thyroxin was added to the heart of the hibernating frog, its temperature and pulse increased to the summer level. Thyroxin was the only gland secretion that had such an effect.

Progress Of Silk Industry

No Far Economic Disturbance Does Not Seem To Have Affected It

The silk industry of Canada has so far evidently not been affected by any economic disturbance. In 1931, the value of production of this industry amounted to $13,137,492, an increase of $78,894 or 2.1 per cent. over 1930. There has been an increase in the Canadian silk industry from 1917 to 1931 of over 666 per cent in production, of 1,248 per cent in capital invested, and in the number of employees 661 per cent.

The silk industry of Canada is divided into two distinct branches, silk and artificial silk. The industry is located entirely in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, thirteen of the establishments being in the latter named province and ten in the latter. The principal items of production are broad silk or piece goods of real silk, of which 8,657,612 yards were made in 1931. Piece goods of artificial goods measured 4,073,434 yards; real silk mixtures measured 2,568,896 yards, and 4,383,838 yards of silk, artificial silk, yarns and threads and their mixtures were produced.

Soviet Food Industry

Results Of First Seven Months Of The Year Are Unimpressive

The work of the food industry to which Soviet Russia looks for its daily needs was called "unsatisfactory" by the commissariat of the food industry in a report on the results for the first seven months of this year.

In spite of beginning production in several new modern equipped enterprises adding greatly to the productive capacity, but the industry during the first six months of the year exceeded the production for the year ended in 1931 by only 6.8 per cent.

This, he said, was "quite insignificant." The 1932 plan was "quite insignificant." The 1932 plan was "quite insignificant." The 1932 plan was "quite insignificant."

He blamed the result on bad management, a poor supply of raw materials and carelessness in many enterprises in taking steps to preserve perishables.

Garnet Wheat

Not Sufficient Evidence To Justify Separate-Grading

If Garnet wheat had been justly graded during the past year growers would have had to take a price, according to the report of the National Agricultural Conference at Toronto.

Contrary to the opinion of the national research council said Mr. W. F. R. the Department of Agriculture has taken the stand there has been no evidence to justify the separate grading of Garnet. The department did not accept the view Canadian wheat was less satisfactory than the United Kingdom millers after Garnet came on the picture.

Mr. Weir declared no person would be so eager to support the grading of Garnet wheat as he, if it were beneficial to wheat growers.

Although there is only one lawyer in Canada for every 1,600 people, there is one lawyer in the House of Commons for every four members of other callings. The ratio in the senate is even higher and in the provincial legislatures it is about the same.

Warning Is Sounded In Connection With Mechanical Progress

Dr. J. B. Davis, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, sounded a note of warning to mechanical progress as he opened the 101st annual meeting of the association at York, England.

"We must admit that there is a danger even to the greatest activities of those who in good faith and with the best intentions make it their business to adapt 'the resources of nature to the use and convenience of man,'" Sir Alfred said.

Telling of the great progress of the "mechanical age," Sir Alfred declared "man was ethically unprepared for so great a bounty. The command of nature has been put into his hands before he knows how to command himself." He declared that man has lost the joy of craftsmanship because of the machinery of mass production.

"In many cases unemployment is thrust upon the worker, an unemployment that is more menacing than any drug," he said. "The world," continued the association president, "stands itself glutted with competitive commodities, and it is more menacing than any drug," he said. Quebec Reports Deficit For The First Time Since 1908

Decreasing revenues in Quebec were reflected in the annual financial statement of the province recently published. The deficit of $1,000,000 was reported, the first time since 1908 that Quebec has not wound up its financial year with a surplus.

The annual statement shows ordinary revenues was $35,941,020.36 while expenditures amounted to $37,525,000. The deficit was $1,583,979.64, as compared with the previous year was $1,583,979.64, compensated for partly by economies effected in various departments of $1,912,525.52.

Exclusive Hunting Grounds Set Aside For Indians and Eskimos

The government has set apart four large game preserves in the Northwest Territories, which are to be hunting grounds for the native Indians, Eskimos and half-breeds. (By Betty Harcourt)

HOLLAND BEET SOUP

- 1 pint strong beef stock.
- 2 tablespoons sugar.
- 1 teaspoon grated onion.
- 2 tablespoons vinegar.
- 3 beets.
- Salt and pepper.

Add sugar, vinegar, salt and pepper, and grated onion to the stock. Boil together about ten minutes. Peel the beets in salted water. Peel and put through a coarse strainer. About five minutes before serving add beets to stock, heat and serve. Too long cooking will spoil the bright red color.

When The Turn Comes

Undoubtedly farm land values in the United States will have to be lowered and in the present process will be wiped out. In Alberta only in exceptional cases will anything of this sort happen. The rule will be the contrary, which fact is certain to place farm owners of this province on a stable foundation when the turn comes—Calgary Herald.

Reindeer Herd For North

Herd of 3,000 Animals Approaching Mackenzie River Delta

The herd of Alaskan reindeer being driven slowly eastward to the Mackenzie River delta to furnish a reserve food and skin supply for the natives of that district, has now reached a point between Canning and Sudderthorn Rivers less than one hundred miles from the Alaska-Yukon border.

Starting two years ago from the west coast of Alaska, the herd of about 3,000 animals has been driven along the coast line ever more difficult terrain which made progress slow and laborious. No reasonably accurate estimate could be made as to the exact time it would take for the journey, owing to lack of knowledge as to the difficulties facing the expedition.

It was learned from the Department of the Interior, which is sponsoring the movement, that satisfactory progress has been made and the herd may be able to cross the delta of the Mackenzie on the ice this winter.

The object is the Kittigwuit Peninsula, a long narrow strip of land on the Arctic Ocean just east of the mouth of the Mackenzie River. There three families of Laplanders, brought to Canada from their native land a year ago, are making all preparations for receiving and caring for the herd. They have built corrals, laid out grazing grounds and otherwise established themselves in readiness for their work.

Four Soviet Scientists Return From Arctic Expedition

The theory of the World Court and the League of Nations is that each nation has an equal say in the affairs, and equally certain of a square deal in any controversy. This was exemplified by the decision of the World Court handed down recently in a dispute between the small republic of Lithuania, and the mighty powers of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

On the main point, which had to do with whether Lithuania had the power to sack a particular state official, the Court decided in favor of the republic.

It is a good thing that the international tribunals get a chance to show their impartiality sometimes, because it is a lesson to the world at large, and an assurance to the small nations that their interests are properly taken care of and no favors shown the big fellows—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

End Lonely Vigil

Four Soviet Scientists Return From Arctic Expedition

Four Soviet scientists had ended a lonely two-year vigil in the bleak Arctic wastes of Northernland, during which their only contact with civilization was by radio. They have been relieved by four other observers, one of them a woman.

A brief wireless dispatch from the icebreaker "Sibirskov", now engaged in Arctic exploration, reports that the party of four, headed by the geographer, Ushakov, were taken aboard after the relief party, sent out aboard the icebreaker, had taken over.

The woman member of the replacement party is Irina Rudnikova, who although she is only 26, is a veteran of polar expeditionary work. With three male colleagues she will spend the next two years at the four outposts.

The four men who are returning were reported to be in excellent health despite the difficulties of their assignment.

Real Trail Blazers

Ocean Flights Have Done Much To Advance Aviation

Why ocean flights? They are like saying the same speech over and over. They prove nothing. They discredit aviation by the deaths they stir up on the waves and in the headlines.

So it is said. But the preponderance of effect seems to show the contrary.

Actually the trans-ocean flights—air blazers—have advanced aviation, except such civilian footpath flights as the Dole Derby.

They have given courage for increasingly great aeronautical progress on land as well as on sea. The public has a short memory for the failures and tragedies and a considerably longer memory for the successes, which, moreover, register themselves subconsciously and permanently in terms of confidence in flying.

The reckless and incompetently planned and piloted trans-ocean flights have tended to discourage repetition. They have tended to make all pilots more careful, both for their own safety and for the good name of aviation.

Captain Molliot's east-west flight in particular has proved that a small low-powered plane of the last variety could make the round trip of all routes—the North Atlantic, westbound. This will mean increased confidence in the small plane and prove a boon to aviation, which must depend for its universalization upon widespread use of smaller and smaller planes.

The flight, as its recent predecessors, notably that of Post and Gatty, has also again shown the remarkable advance in the development of instruments. Each such demonstration advertises the usefulness of flying.

Trans-ocean flights, too, are valuable as instances of fortitude and of human endurance.

Salutations to Captain Molliot.

Found Use For Mosquitoes

U.S. Health Service Banning Insects For Treatment Of Disease

Caring for the pests as if they were biting babies, the public health service is succeeding at Columbia, S.C., in raising mosquitoes needed for treatment of dread parasites.

Reversing traditional rugged methods of mosquito handling, government scientists, cooperating with authorities of the state hospital for the insane at Columbia, have made nose-pieces quadrangular and mosquito punctuations, two of the species which transmit malaria, respond to kind treatment.

Confers, gun, humidifiers and ice boxes have been set up in the Columbia mosquito laboratory and the mortality among the young is so small that the majority of the insects used in experiments are hand-reared.

Health service officials regard the "fame" as an important stride forward in the treatment of parasites, otherwise known as softening of the brain.

London Prefers Gas

For Street Lighting

Electricity Is Used But Not To Same Extent

London apparently still prefers gas to electricity for lighting its streets. The city of Westminster has just renewed its contract for gas street lighting for another fifteen years, and it recently has been revealed that fifty-five miles of streets in central London are gas lighted.

Electricity, of course, also is used, but not to the same extent as gas.

The two systems are pretty well scrambled up. Piccadilly Circus for example, is electric, but Piccadilly itself is gas. The Mall is electric, except for the front of Buckingham Palace, which, like Pall Mall and St. James Street is gas.

It is the city engineers' job only to determine which is which is to look at the lamp posts.

An American citizen does not need a passport for direct travel to Mexico and Canada. A certificate of identity will serve instead.

"Your cough is better today."

"Yes, I have practiced it all night."

Whitshell Forest Reserve

Trans-Canada Highway Opens Way To A Maritime Lakeside

Tricked away near the southeast corner of Manitoba is a holiday region of lakes, streams and forest, access to which is made easy by the opening of the Winnipeg-Kenora section of the Trans-Canada Highway. A major run of about one hundred miles east from Winnipeg, or forty-five miles west from Kenora takes the motorist to a point on the highway that is one quarter mile south of Cuddy Lake. A road has been cleared through the bush to this elongated lake which is the focus of canoe routes over which trips may be taken that last for a day, a week, a month or longer.

To the north of Cuddy Lake, or Cross Lake as it is sometimes called, lies the Whiteshell River, which leads to Little Whiteshell, Whitshell Lake, Crow Duck Lake and the Whinipig River. South of Cuddy Lake the highway skirts the south and west shores of West Hawk Lake, and side trips may be taken to Star and Falcon Lakes. These three lakes are worthy of mention for their beauty and scenic grandeur. In fact the traveler passing through the waterways north of the highway will also find much that is picturesque and interesting.

There are beaches that invite the swimmer and sun bather and cool depths that delight the diver. Fishing is hardly a sport, as in some of the lakes the angler's lure scarcely touches the water ere it is seized by a finny creature. The waterways are not monotonous as there are portage trails run smooth by the moss-covered feet of Indians, and waterfalls that add to the beauty of the surroundings. Moose, deer and bear wander in the woods or drink from the streams, and game birds singers scatter the daylight hours, while after evening the nightwatches and white-plover will advertise their presence.

This region, known as the Whiteshell Forest Reserve, has been set aside by the provincial government as a permanent recreational area. Public camping grounds and subdivisions for summer homes and camps have already been laid out, and surveying for other sites is still under way. Further plans include the laying out of side roads in order that this excellent playground region may be readily accessible to the summer vacationist and to all who enjoy life out-of-doors.

The flight, as its recent predecessors, notably that of Post and Gatty, has also again shown the remarkable advance in the development of instruments. Each such demonstration advertises the usefulness of flying.

Salutations to Captain Molliot.

Strangely as it may seem, these men are now walking on air. They are a couple of still men who are paid to walk between the tall rows of hops in the fields in Kent, England, to train the ends of the hop plants over the highest wires, which are some twenty feet in the air. For the past hundred years stills have been used by men in the hop fields, and it is a remarkable sight to see these men walking on the tops of long poles with the ease of a man whose feet are on terra firma.

Remember The "Choker"

Starred Abolitionists Known To Men Quarter Century Ago

Man's style in collars has not undergone much change since the "choker" was abolished, and it still has to endure having to swallow under the encircling band of linen on hot days, but things are not just as bad as they were.

Twenty-five years ago there was a starched abolitionism known as the "choker." No implement of torture was ever more aptly named. It was a straight, stand-up hard collar, without corners or wings, which jabbed him under the chin, and made him hold his head high to keep from rubbing a sore spot. It was a sort of collar saw around his neck, and if there was anything to be said in its favor, it was that it made the wearers keep their heads erect and developed a graceful, if uncomfortable carriage. It was like the clergyman's dog collar, only sharper and fastened in front.

One of the drawbacks of the "choker" was that it had nothing to hold the tie in position. The tie used to work itself up, in that persistent manner that we have, and one had to be careful that it did not find its way over the top of the collar, or vice versa, approximately the right on left ear.

Soon after it came in fashion, William A. Lord, a New Yorker lawyer, invented a device that would keep the refractory neck-tie in its proper place. This invention was a boon to the man who suffered from agonizing weariness if he was on straight or not, but almost as soon as it came on the market the "choker" went out of existence. Mr. Lord might have made a fortune, but he remained a lawyer.

However, Mr. Lord was one of mankind's benefactors for a while, and the recording angel will surely have his good deed down in the book. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Rare Old Shards Found

Were Used By Ancient Greeks On What To Jesus Was

Discovery in the ancient market place at Athens of two highly valuable shards of pottery on which Greek citizens inscribed votes which sent Aristides and Themistocles, political and military leaders, into temporary exile twenty-four hundred years ago was claimed here by Prof. T. Leslie Shear of the Princeton Department of Art and Archaeology, who is the director of the excavations at Athens now being undertaken by the American School of Classical Studies.

The shards were found in a section which had been hidden by a modern building.

Citizens of Athens during the fifth century B.C., had the constitutional right to gather at the market place to vote to exile any one of their number. If as many as six thousand votes were cast against a man, he was banished for ten years without the loss of his estate.

Themistocles' ostracism in the second of his kind ever found, but the one against Aristides is the only one thus far unearthed. Ostraca had previously been discovered which were used in votes against Magesias in 497 B.C., and Xanthippe, father of Pericles, in 483 B.C.

Peculiar Thing About Taste

Flavors Often Detected If Served At Small Cut Off

A special dinner was served at the congress of engineers dinner in New York recently, to prove most humans cannot taste flavors. It was a small bag of candies, including peppermint, watermelon, clove, violet, licorice, lemon, orange, grape and lime.

A card instructed the diners to hold their noses while sampling the confections. No vote was taken. At the Carnegie Institution it is found few or none get any flavor when the sense of smell is cut off.

The Indispensable Zipper

All Miltady had to do now to change from lounging pajamas to formal evening gown is to slip. A style show exhibited pajamas with a zipper device, which, when pulled, closes the trousers legs so that the garment comes on creating a breeze with full circular skirt. The zipper is fastened inside the seam, out of sight. A lace cap completes the outfit.

Canada Has Lots of Space

Average Of Three Miles Per Every Square Foot

The recent census of the returns show that the Dominion has a population of about the same size as that of the New York metropolitan area—15,000,000, as compared with 15,000,000. Here we have the two extremes, Canada has a land area of more than three and a half million square miles, an average of a whole square mile for every three persons. The metropolitan area, with only 2,514 square miles of land, has only a sixth of an acre to each inhabitant.

There are a few spaces on the face of the globe occupied by civilized man that are still more meagerly settled than Canada—Iceland, Greenland, Mongolia, South Australia, Queensland and the Falkland Islands among others. The Dominion, with a domain larger than the United States (exclusive of our possessions), has a population of about one-third that of the United States. Our economic problems would seem simple if our ten millions could be spread over such boundless areas as stretched away toward the west along the lines of latitude for our forefathers.

With man's continuing conquest of heat and cold there will be a movement northward and southward widening the zone of habitability. More especially do the unoccupied regions in the north invite to adventure and to recreation. They may yet be the salvation of a congested civilization of the temperate zone, helping it to keep its health and to recruit vigor of the human spirit. It is its own default of lack of social and political life in a democracy. —New York Times.

Ancient Church At Tiberias

Spot Where Jesus Believed Lived and Where He Died

Church archaeologists told the story of Jesus at Tiberias, on the Sea of Galilee, the spot where Jesus multiplied the loaves and two fishes to feed a multitude.

According to tradition a church was built at the scene of the miracle and church ruins have been uncovered by a German Oriental Institute at Jerusalem.

An article to be published in the Illustrations Vatikanica, a Jesuit, Father Chrysostomus Spiliotis, announces that the discovery corresponds to the account of the Bible.

Moses in the ruins depicted serpents, sea birds, plants and lotus flowers, while behind the ruins are shown loaves of bread and two fishes beside a sort of basket, presumably referring to the baskets in which Christ told his disciples to gather the remains of food after the multitude had been fed.

Prosperity And Hard Times

Each Depression Is Worse Than The Last One, Says Minister Editor

"There is no man in raising prices, and ending depression if in five or six years we are to be deep in the mire again." This was the warning given at a director's luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto by John W. Dato, of Winnipeg, veteran editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press.

In his 50 years of journalism, said Mr. Dato, he had seen seven depressions, and noted that each period of prosperity and hard-times was more extreme than those before. "We must find some way to break this rhythm," he declared. "Otherwise I doubt if our capitalist civilization can stand the strain."

There must be no war and no reckless interference with international trade if we are to avoid future depression, said Mr. Dato. He regarded the "moral wreckage" of depression as greater than that of war. By "passing the buck," he asserted, authorities in Canada were creating a great problem for generations to come in the army of wandering homeless who developed into criminals.

Mr. Dato described the pangs of losing fast money as "honey." This was the first depression in Canadian history, he pointed out, when the national debt had been drawn from the national treasury as though the country were at war. This was necessary because more than half of the population were not city dwellers.

Heavy Showers Ruined Efforts Of Indian Dancers

A few minutes after Navajo Indian dancers held a "rain dance" at Shiprock, New Mexico, during a dry spell, a black cloud rolled up from the western horizon and rain poured down in torrents. "When the clouds cleared, as suddenly as it had clouded, it was discovered that the storm had extended only a half a mile from the spot where the Indians had been dancing."

Red Coat Of Mounties

Uniform Adopted Because Indians Objected To Dark Colors

Why does the Mountie wear a red coat? It is a question frequently asked. In one of the first reports upon the advisability of establishing such a force, Colonel Ross made a reference to the subject of uniform, saying: "During my inspection in the North West I ascertained some prejudice existed amongst the Indians against the color of the uniform worn by the men of the rifles, for many of the Indians said they were these soldiers at Red River wearing dark clothes? Our old brothers who formerly lived there (meaning the fifth Regiment of the British army), wore red coats," adding, "we know that the soldiers of our great mother (Queen Victoria) wear red coats and are our friends!"

The Indians like bright color, but they also in this case connected it with regular regiment that had come to the Red River to keep the peace. There is a moral in color as in other things. For nearly half a century throughout Canada's great plains the red coat of the Mounted Police has been the visible and definite assurance that right is might. A red sash on the dutton has been notice to both weak and strong, honest and dishonest, that the rule of law prevailed; that the law was not a mere name and red that "law" means even-handed justice as between man and man without fear or favor. The red coat has been evidence that wherever the wearer was there was authority. In any other color he would have been a mere observation. Not so when clothed in red.

Victory At Waterloo Announced From Balcony Of London Club

The Princes of Wales has said that the smoking room of the East India United Service Club was one of the finest in London. A piece of history was made on the balcony of the smoke-room before the club, was founded at Number 14 in 1849, says the Overseas Daily Mail. A Mrs. Smith, who lived there was a great hostess, and on the evening of June 21, 1815, was entertaining a company of distinguished guests. The incident of the Prince Regent, afterwards to be George IV., and Lord Castlereagh, the Foreign Secretary. "There dashed into the square an unexpected post-chaise and four bearing Major Henry Percy, with dispatches from the Duke of Wellington to the Foreign Secretary. Not finding him at home, Major Percy hastened to Mrs. Smith's house, where the London crowd, ever to be relied upon in its instinct for the great moment, grew snarling fashion. Then it was that the Duke of Wellington, for some time, probably Lord Castlereagh himself, stepped out and announced to the throng the news he had just received from the battle of Waterloo. Farmers delivering grain to the Saskatchewan relief commission for payment of relief advances will reap the benefit of better grain prices if they exceed the pegged price, a statement from the commission points out.

"This applies to all deliveries made to the commission on account of relief payment on or before Nov. 1, 1932."

Famous Novelist Passes

Sir Gilbert Parker Victim Of Heart Attack In London, England

Sir Gilbert Parker, the Canadian-born novelist of the French-Canadian in the last two fields of literature and statesmanship at the turn of the century, died recently in London, England, in his 70th year, after a heart attack.

The author of such best sellers as "The Heats of the Street," "The Lane That Had No Turning," had been in good health, working steadily in his London flat in Whitehall Court until the fatal seizure.

Although he achieved international fame as a novelist, the literary career of Sir Gilbert Parker was to have been somewhat dimmed by his activity in politics.

Sir Gilbert travelled extensively in northern Canada and the South Sea, and was a associate editor at Sydney, Australia, for four years before going to London in the early twenties. His soon began to acquire a reputation as a writer of romantic fiction, building his stories around the adventures of his great-grandfather, a French-Canadian settler, and the English and American pioneers in the great woods.

In these stories he portrayed the character of the French-Canadian settler, and the English and American pioneers in the great woods. His first novel failed to attract wide attention. He developed his favorite type of leading character—a half-breed, half Indian, and essentially an adventurer—and his success was made.

About that time he began to take an active interest in politics. His Canadian connections and his experience in Australia and elsewhere in the British Empire made him a strong supporter of the Liberal party. He began to devote more of his time to politics, and finally in 1900 was elected to parliament from Gravesend, serving 13 years.

Sir Gilbert was born at St. John's, East Toronto, November 23, 1862, the son of Captain Parker, a member of the Royal Academy. A military career had been planned for him, and he obtained his early education at Ottawa and his degree at Trinity College, Toronto.

It was in 1886 that he went to Australia, and became associate editor of the Sydney Morning Herald, remaining in newspaper work four years.

Exhibits From India

Province Of Burma To Be Represented At World's Grain Show

The province of Burma (India) will be represented at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, 1933, by a specially prepared exhibit sponsored by the Burmese Chamber of Commerce, according to information received from H. T. Young, Burmese Government Trade Commissioner at Calcutta.

For some time the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research of India has been collecting material for an all-India exhibit at the World's Grain show to be held at Regina next year. The exhibit, under the direction of the secretary of the grain show, now states that the director of agriculture of Burma will prepare an exhibit specially representative of the province.

This action has been taken as a result of a resolution of the Burmese Chamber of Commerce, which provides that the province of agriculture that is the opinion of the chamber, a separate exhibit for Burma should be shown; that this exhibit should include varieties of Burmese rice and beans, and that the exhibit should be shown by the department of agriculture, to which the chamber would give every possible help.

Some More British Speed

Workmen Rebuilt Large Concert Hall In Forty-Six Days

The British hold the world's fastest speed record in the world except one, and they are not so slow in other directions. Take, for example, that new concert and dance hall built at Bridlington, a small seaside resort in Yorkshire, which took the place of a hall burned down in January.

The first brick was laid on June 16. In 46 days 150 workmen operating in three shifts laid 250,000 bricks, used 200 tons of steel, put in 4,000 panes of glass, and erected a $200,000 building which includes sun-bathing parlors, cafes, a dance floor of 8,000 square feet, and various other things.

The last workman finished his job as the Mayor arrived for the opening ceremony. Seven minutes later the ceremony was over, and an audience of 4,000 people had assembled in the hall for a concert.

Even a Yankee contractor might blink at such speed.

NEW JOYS

New joys will bloom white years go by.

As roses greet the smiling sky With every glad, recurrent June, And sunsets paint their happy tune.

New joys will stretch their tendrils out To creep and climb and twine about Our lives, till all is fair and bright, While winter doubts and fears take flight.

New Joy! Then yield to no dismay When all things thus cherished pass away, For all things change and all are fleet, And summer's roses never fade.

New Joy! Trust the future; it will bring Glad days that shine and hours that ring.

Days even as dear and prized as these That now weave glowing tapestries.

Resignation Of Hanford MacNider

United States Minister To Canada

Surrogate Post President Herbert Hoover has accepted the resignation of Hanford MacNider, United States minister to Canada, and at the same time congratulated him upon his part in the consummation of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

Mr. MacNider's letter of resignation said he was quitting his post to give his attention to "private affairs."

In accepting his resignation, the president said Mr. MacNider's part in the consummation of the St. Lawrence treaty was "a notable service, and one which you may always be proud."

Discussing the resignation, one of the president's secretaries said: "Mr. MacNider has 'accomplished his main objective' in accepting the ministerialship."

Supplying Exact Time

Throughout the various government buildings at Ottawa there is a system of over 600 clocks controlled directly from the Dominion Observatory, of the Department of the Interior. The majority of these take the form of "minute disks," whose hands are actuated electrically once each minute; the exact instant when the hands move marks the beginning of the minute.

A Swedish clock maker has invented a device which rings an alarm, turns on the heat and starts a percolator. Nothing is said of an unnecessary scrape the toast, at a slight extra charge.

Big Police Campaign

Scotland Yard Wages War On Highway Robbers

Moving with military precision, Scotland Yard recently began the biggest police campaign on record to crush the modern outlaw counterparts of England's most notorious highway robber, Dick Turpin.

Designed to end an alarming wave of road-side holdups which were believed to have been increased by arrival of gangster deportees from the United States, the police flying squads closed all approaches to London, stopped and inspected thousands of automobiles and placed a wide area under rigid supervision.

The operations, directed by Lord Trenchard, were on an unprecedented scale but public opinion backed the police because of many bold robberies on the King's highway in the last two months.

In contrast to the blunderbuss and steel of the original Dick Turpin who terrorized the highways 200 years ago, the modern bandits have had automobiles and many pistols. The British police are not armed, but there have been many demands by the public that they be provided with pistols.

The declaration of active war by Scotland Yard coincided with the arrival of a group of British gunmen who had been expelled from America. About 1,500 police combed the streets and roads.

Were One, Two, Three In Every Class During Alton Contest

A terrific contest for automobiles was conducted when the International Alton Trials were held here. There were contests for four grades of cars, which had to drive over a cinder and tortuous course through the Alps, a grueling test of speed and mechanical efficiency. Competitors were not permitted to put fresh water in their radiators, and on ability to negotiate the hills without a "hot" out, being one of the factors considered in the race.

British made cars were one, two, three in every class, and sometimes four, five, and six as well. There were cars from France, Germany, Italy and other countries in the competition, and they were simply "blotted out."

British workmanship is rarely surpassed by that of other nations. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Take Your Choice

A London dispatch of the other day remarked that the name "airline" comes from the fact that a British king once knighted a lot of bees, making it "Sir Loin." The dictionary unhappily has a less romantic origin. They say "airline" is derived from the old French "sur" meaning "upon" and "longue" meaning "loin."

Mail Insurance Rate

Saskatchewan Municipal Rate Fixed Same As Last Year

The Saskatchewan municipal mail insurance rate has been fixed for this year the same as that in effect last year. Decision respecting the new rate was reached at a meeting of the board in Regina.

The flat rate remains at four cents per acre, and the crop rate varies in various districts from four to 18 cents per acre.

This rate was based upon an estimated crop loss for the entire term which expires September 13, of $800,000. Actual loss as at August 29 was $750,000. Total business in force totaled $38,000,000.
